12:28 J'Y SUIS, J'Y RESTE !

This documentary series offers you a chance to discover some of the outstanding holiday destinations of Quebec and New Brunswick in the words of those who live there.

The Isle-aux-Grues

Situated off the coast of Montmagny, better known as the home of snow geese and of the famous painter Riopelle, the Isle-aux-Grues is part of a chain of twenty one islands of which it is the centrepiece. Once under threat from the agricultural crisis, it today owes its survival to an incredible initiative launched by the small island population: cheese-making. Each contributing in their own way to this thrilling gastronomic saga, Gaston Bernier, Frédéric Poulin and Christian Vinet tell us their captivating story.
We will also be talking to the local pilot Jean Gosselin, who takes us on an airborne tour of the area, while the ornithologist Jocelyn Landry presents the amazing richness and diversity of the island.

Directed by: Marcotte Lisette, 2008.
